Culinary delights with gastronomic quality

Recognising and satisfying individual needs and expectations.

For us at Apleona HSG Culinaress the key benchmark of quality is the satisfaction of our clients and their guests.

We want to delight. We fulfil this claim with an eye for detail. Everything revolves around the product. It offers maximum freshness and is largely sourced from regional or local suppliers.

The simple rule at our company: Good food depends on high-quality ingredients. Tasting great: that's what people want nowadays. We ensure delicious food through meticulously regulated standards.

We employ experienced catering professionals who love their job and live up to these requirements, in fact even surpass them. We take responsibility for every single dish, every employee, day in day out. Our passion for quality and years of experience in the market make us a partner our clients can trust – some have been doing so for decades.
